

Santa does NOT forget – Blessed Bedtime Christmas Stories for children

This story is about a boy who lives with his father and mother. He's kind and obedient and shares all of his toys with his friends. However, he made a mistake: he always forgot to do odd jobs and other important jobs he was asked to do. Every time he is asked to do something and then asked, he has an answer, "I forgot." If he was sent to the tailor to remind him of an urgent change, he would forget to tell the tailor about it. If he were given money to pay for electricity, his mother would find the money and bills in his pocket that very night. The reason for not doing a specific job remains the same. You guessed it right – "I forgot."

Parents worry that this forgetful habit will affect the boy's adult life, making it difficult for him. They decide to do something about it to make him remember everything. Christmas is coming, and like the other children, the boy is busy preparing the bill for Santa Claus, asking for his favorite items. His mother said, "Santa might forget to bring those for you." But the boy is sure that Santa Claus will look like he will put them in his socks so he will leave the list.

On Christmas morning, he woke up early and hurriedly checked his socks, pretty sure Santa would deliver all he wanted. His mother knew what was going to happen and stayed away from him. The boy stood in front of his mother with a long list of all the jobs he had been asked to do during the past year. At the bottom of the list, bold text is written, "I FORGET".

The boy was heartbroken and dragged himself to visit his grandfather with the rest of the family. On his grandfather's Christmas tree, the boy finds everything he has always wanted! Even though he doesn't change immediately, his mom still reminds him when things are out of hand – "Santa don't forget!" He slowly understood why it was so important to remember one's duties and responsibilities in life
